

PRIVACY STATEMENT

RAI Amsterdam B.V. (below: RAI) is an international exhibition and conference organisation. As such, we aim to bring people together, both in the Netherlands and abroad, and to provide services for such gatherings. Besides organising exhibitions, trade fairs and other events, we act as a conference and meeting centre and provide a theatre programme and hotel service. In carrying out these services we process personal data. This privacy statement explains what personal data RAI collects about you and how we handle them. We recommend that you read the statement carefully.

This privacy statement was last amended in September 2018.

RAI is the controller, as defined in the data protection legislation. Our details are:

RAI Amsterdam B.V.

Handling your personal data

RAI considers your privacy to be important and handles your personal data as carefully and securely as possible. In doing so, it complies with the privacy legislation.

RAI records personal data in the course of providing its services. Examples are where you take part in an exhibition or conference, subscribe to one of our newsletters, express interest in our services or contact RAI in some other way. These may be personal data, but they may equally well be data examined by us to analyse the use made of our website, for example the number of times our websites are visited and what pages are viewed.

In this privacy statement we explain what personal data of yours we can process. That is not to say that all your personal data listed below are processed. That depends on what services you use and what data you leave behind on our websites. For example, what personal data we process will differ according to whether you are a visitor or an exhibitor.

To ensure that you have the clearest possible information, we have made a distinction between the processing of personal data for a number of RAI's specific services. By clicking on the specific services mentioned below you can find out what personal data RAI processes about you and why.

Basis for processing

RAI uses all the personal data mentioned above to implement and process the agreement with you, for example the agreement with you as visitor to or exhibitor at an event. RAI may also have a statutory obligation to process your personal data, for example to fulfil our obligations under tax law.

RAI can also use your personal data because it has legitimate interests in doing so. Among these interests are providing a good service (for example when you visit an event in the RAI complex), ensuring the security of the buildings and systems and the efficiency of internal business operations, protecting financial interests, personnel planning and keeping customers informed about RAI's new and existing products and services.

If RAI is to process personal data on the basis of your consent, it will ask you for this separately. You may always subsequently withdraw consent, but in such a case the data processed prior to the moment of withdrawal will remain lawful.

Transfer outside the EU

Your personal data may be transferred to countries outside the EU in cases where RAI's service providers are established in a non-EU member state such as Switzerland or the United States. The level of protection in such countries, including the United States, may not be the same as in the EU. RAI therefore takes appropriate measures to safeguard your personal data.

Your data may also be stored by third parties outside the EU when use is made of Google Analytics, Facebook, Twitter and LinkedIn. However, as these parties are registered under the terms of the EU-US Privacy Shield, they will comply with the EU privacy legislation.

Cookies

RAI uses cookies to gather information about its customers for the purposes of targeted communication, including the provision of service information about its products, and specific marketing activities connected with RAI's products and possibly the products of third parties carefully selected by RAI. For further explanation, see our cookie statement (Dutch only).

Profiling

RAI will combine the information collected on our websites and from other sources in order to offer you the best (online) experience and service.

Retention periods

RAI will keep your personal data for no longer than necessary for the processing purposes mentioned above. This means that your personal data are kept for as long as necessary to fulfil the specified purposes.

However, we are bound to retain certain personal data for longer as RAI must comply with its statutory retention obligations such as the duty to retain data for tax purposes.

Security: RAI has naturally taken security measures to protect your personal data from loss or unauthorised access.

Your rights: under the privacy legislation you have various rights as described below.

- Access: you have the right of access to your personal data. You will receive an overview of your personal data within a month of the date on which we receive your request for access.
- Correction: if your data are incorrect, we will correct them.

In the event of an objection to direct marketing, we will terminate the processing as quickly as possible.
- Portability: You may request transmission of your personal data where the processing is based on consent or a contract with RAI.
